Team of sheriffs trim crime in city

By SUE McDONALD
Of The Roman Staff

A concerted effort by a team of four Wayne County Sheriff's Department detectives with assistance from the Taylor Police Department has trimmed crime in Romulus Meadows Subdivision.

According to Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt, the officers produced 23 arrests related to crimes that plagued residents in the development during less than one month of investigation.

The residents had appeared before the council on May 7, requesting that the city do something to solve the problem.

THROUGH THE efforts of Insp. Robert Sullivan, the liaison officer between the city and the sheriff's department, an undercover investigative program was instituted. Troutt praised the activities of the law enforcement officers, saying that 18 burglaries in the area had been solved through their work.

They cleaned up the area in good fashion.

A majority of the people in the development are good...

"They cleaned up the area in good fashion," he said. "A majority of the people in the development are good, but there were a few rotten apples to make things bad. But that problem has been cleaned up."

Troutt said numerous vacant homes in the housing development had created an atmosphere for the repeated vandalism and crimes.

HOWEVER, of the 100 left vacant by their former tenants, about 60 homes have been renovated and resold. The remaining abused homes are under restoration.

He added that the lack of restrictions or requirements for ownership of homes in the subdivision also expanded the problem, attracting some people who cared little about the home or its upkeep.

Residents in the subdivision had been attempting to get relief from the criminal problem for several months. Through the restoration program and increased police activity, the situation has improved, changing the homeowners' attitudes and quieting them down, one resident said.

Troutt said the sheriff's department work in the Meadows Subdivision has added impetus to his push for three detectives to work within Romulus exclusively.

THE CITY has been negotiating with the county for the officers for about two months. Two of the officers would handle criminal investigations while the third would be assigned to juvenile duties.

Troutt plans to have the officers man a small sub-office in city hall while working in Romulus.

Preliminary cost estimates for the three officers has been set at $90,000, some $35,000 less than allowed for in the city's new budget.

"I want to do as much as I can as far as making the police department work within the concept of contracted police protection," Troutt said.

THE WORK in the subdivision attests to the workability of the concept, he added.

The mayor hopes to have an agreement on the three officers working in Romulus concluded prior to the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1.

Romulus may add park site to city's list of rec facilities

Romulus may be adding another park site to its growing list of recreational facilities.

According to Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt, the city is negotiating with a property owner for a parcel of land on Cogswell Road between Wabash and Superior as a future park site.

Troutt said the site, some eight- to 10-acres in size, would be developed as a major park site and would include baseball diamonds along with the playground equipment and related recreational materials.

THE NEW SITE would increase to five the number of parks developed or being developed in the city and leave the mayor just one park short of his goal of six recreational sites by the end of his term in office.

Development of the Cogswell Road site is geared for next year with the funds available in the new fiscal budget.

The mayor said although none of the four present city parks are functional, the Elmer Johnson Park should be ready for use by residents in July.

Two other parks, one on Beverly Road and another at Merriman Elementary School, should be operational by the end of August.

THE CITY HAS received unofficial approval from the Romulus Community Schools for use of the Merriman School land. A lease for the property is being drawn up and work should begin in earnest, following completion of the agreement, Troutt said.

Top soil already is being placed at the site and leveling activity will begin as soon as the lease is concluded, Troutt added.

The fourth park, Five Points Park, is a minimal recreational facility, according to the mayor, providing an ice skating rink, a few pieces of playground equipment and some tables for residents.

"I plan to build parks in areas where children can get to them without being driven by car," he said. "Six parks is the goal for my term as mayor, but I feel the city needs eight recreational sites."

TROUTT ADDED that a recent survey of residents listed recreation as a "No. 1 item of concern."

He cited the City of Taylor's recreation program as the best in Wayne County and added that if residents are willing to tax themselves for recreation, "then Romulus should have an even better program."

After 3rd failure

McConeghy won't ask for swim pool millage

Romulus voters who want a swimming pool will have to ask city government to build it for them.

Romulus School Supt. Robert McConeghy yesterday said that he does not intend to propose another millage to build a school operated pool for community use, to the Romulus School District Board of Education.

"This is the third time the voters have turned down the proposition since I've been here," McConeghy said. "And it was by the closest margin yet, 2-1."

ROMULUS VOTERS went to the polls Monday to defeat the proposed swimming pool millage while reelecting two school board incumbents to 4-year terms.

Gerald Budd, incumbent board vice-president, led the balloting with an unofficial tally of 876.

Second was the board treasurer, Ronald Christensen, with 710 votes. He was followed by LaVerne McGee with 706 votes.

Due to the close vote, ballots were recounted before Christensen was declared the unofficial winner over Mrs. McGee.

Margaret Meldrum received 545 votes, Bernard Mangrum, 371 votes and Oliver Warren had 184 votes in the balloting.

A TOTAL OF 2,334 ballots were cast in the election.

The swimming pool proposition, which received the backing of the school board and city officials, including Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt, would have been an asset for a community-wide recreation program, according to both school and city officials.

Because of the potential benefit to recreation, McConeghy said the defeat was "disappointing."

"It is evident that the voters in the school district are against raising taxes for a swimming pool," McConeghy said. "But the defeat especially is disappointing because the proposition was placed on the ballot when a citizen requested it. He presented the school board with petitions showing support in the community."

"WHILE THE voters defeated the millage increase proposal, I couldn't help but notice that other districts received approval of millage increases of their own."

Both the Plymouth and Livonia school districts won victories in raising taxes and adding bonding proposals to their school budgets.

Plymouth voters approved more than eight mills in taxes for next year — including a nearly 2-mill increase — while Livonia voters approved more than 7.8 mills — including a 3.3-mill increase.

Prior to the balloting, Troutt had said that the city may propose its own millage package for constructing a pool, if the proposition was defeated by school voters.

Troutt had indicated that the pool would be built near Romulus High School to allow its use by the school district.

Barbecue roll-up may net him prize

By SUE McDONALD
Of The Roman Staff

It sounds like an unlikely dish, but a combination of sauerkraut, knackwurst, apples and steak, covered with melted cheese, has earned a Romulus man a place in the Detroit Edison Co.'s "King Of The Patio" cook-off.

Gerry Kain, 31, who "likes things that taste different," is confident his barbecue roll-up will net him one of the three top spots in the cook-off for men.

He admits he's not that fond of cooking, but dabbles in the culinary arts when the mood moves him or he has a taste for something different.

HIS COOK-OFF entry was the result of such an urge and "whatever was in the refrigerator." It has been prepared only once, he said.

A sheet metal worker at the Ford Motor Co., he waited until the day before the deadline to submit his entry.

"I never expected to get this far," he said. "I was shocked to hear I was a finalist. I figured I wouldn't have a chance because the other recipes would be too exotic."

Although he owns neither a barbecue nor a patio, Kain said he finds cooking very relaxing.

"I REALLY don't cook unless the urge hits me," Kain said. But every now and then I cook to relax."

Kain credits his wife with helping his culinary development, adding that she "always tells me what's wrong with it and what I have to do to make it taste better."

"She says the roll-up tastes even better after two drinks," he added.

Cooking is not a new experience for Kain, who said he cooked a lot when he was younger.

"MY MOTHER was a good cook and with 14 kids, the family did a lot of cooking," he said. "If you were late for dinner, you made your own food."

The cook-off competition will be held this afternoon at the company's downtown offices. For more information on the cook-off see story on today's Suburban Living pages.

Residents donate funds to marchers

Romulus citizens contributed more than $780 to the Muscular Dystrophy Association during a house-to-house campaign by volunteer marchers.

According to Elvira Fischer, Romulus chairman of the drive for the 15th consecutive year, contributions can be made until June 30.

She has sent a $1,500 personal goal to mark the year, and said: "When you give, it will help a child to live."

Contributions can be sent to 30880 Ecorse Rd., Romulus.

Based on a report from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department of inadequate service, the Romulus City Council is eyeing a switch in the city's contracted ambulance service.

The city had contracted the emergency services from General Ambulance. However, the firm withdrew its equipment from the city following the expiration of its contract June 1.

According to the sheriff's report, the officers were forced to call on other firms because of General's lack of maintaining the necessary equipment in the city.

ROMULUS Mayor Terry Troutt said in some instances the one ambulance General had agreed to locate in the city was as far away as Farmington when needed.

The city is considering a contract with Taylor Ambulance, the firm the sheriff's department has been calling to handle Romulus' emergencies.

According to Troutt, the firm has agreed to locate one ambulance in the city on a 24-hour basis with two back-up units available in extreme emergencies.

The new contract, if accepted by the council would cost the city about $6,600, a $2,600 increase above the cost of last year's contract.

THE MAYOR attributed the decline in General's service to the rates paid by the state and federal governments for ambulance service for medicare and welfare patients who use such services.

He said a large portion of the city's ambulance usage is among the government-subsidized group. The rates paid by the various agencies cover only one-third of the actual cost, making it non-feasible, but required by law.

And provide for budgetary changes

Charter changes may extend officials' terms

Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt is maintaining a noncommittal position on one of two proposed amendments, which would extend the terms of the mayor, city clerk and treasurer to four years.

The second amendment would provide for budgetary changes in charter requirements, permitting the city to function more efficiently, Troutt said.

The amendment would shorten the time span between the presentation of the budget, the public hearing and its approval, allowing time for the city to complete its tax review board hearings.

THE TWO charter amendments are before

'I'm not positive if I'll run for reelection, and if I do,

I'm not sure I'd want to serve four more years.'

the governor and attorney general for their approval.

The amendments must be approved by the state before the June 18 deadline for certifying the wording of local proposals to be on the August ballot.

Troutt said he "really doesn't care" about the extended-term proposal, adding that he is unsure whether such a move would be good or bad for the city.

According to Troutt, the proposal was made, based on a survey of residents by a panel studying charter changes.

"I DON'T know if four years would be good or not," Troutt said. "I'm not positive if I'll run for reelection, and if I did, I'm not sure I'd want to serve four more years.

"I'd be 60 years old by the end of my term," Serving on the panel along with Troutt were Bill Oakley, Jack Trumble, Beverly McAnally, Lngg Coleman, Duke Ravitz and Ed Bizak.

In discussing the second amendment, Troutt said that under the present system, the administration must present the budget to council prior to completion of the hearing and before a set figure is available on anticipated tax revenues.

THE AMENDMENT would allow the mayor to present the budget 30 days prior to the hearing. The hearing, in turn, would precede the approval by one week.

The amendment also would change the policy on the purchase of materials for the city that exceed $750.

Under the city charter, any item exceeding the $750 figure must be open to competitive bidding, even if the item sought is manufactured by only one firm.

New Harrison round-up prepares tots for school

Kindergarteners entering Harrison Elementary School in Romulus this fall won't be aware of it, but they will be receiving some special attention, thanks to a new kindergarten round-up concept at the school.

While their parents recently were being informed of the school's curriculum offerings, the students scheduled to enter kindergarten were being tested on perception, eyesight, hearing and agility.

Results, from the tests were compiled, and will be used next year by the kindergarten teachers to gear programs to suit individual student needs.

Each parent will be asked to meet with a member of the school staff and will receive a packet of suggested activities for the preschooler.

As part of the round-up program, parents met with Harrison Principal Arthur McPharlin and Dr. Alice Gretzler, director of special education.

The parents also toured the school facility.

Faust proposes tax saving plan

Area taxpayers may be saved some funds if a local legislator's proposal is adopted.

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) introduced legislation in the Senate which prohibits the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission from charging air pollution control fees to governmental agencies or to agencies or authorities established by governmental units.

"While the commission has exempted many governments and public agencies, a few glaring exceptions have meant that some Michigan taxpayers are forced to finance the pollution surveillance program on the state end and to pay the surveillance fee charged governments.

"That just does not make good sense."

Faust added that one such agency in this area is the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority.

"The incinerator operated by this governmental authority serves residents of Westland, Wayne, Inkster, Garden City, Dearborn Heights, Allen Park and Taylor," Faust said. "And yet every year it is being assessed an air pollution surveillance fee by the state."

"I think it is ludicrous for the state to insist on the charge while most other municipalities and governmental agencies have been exempted."

WCRC requests bids for work on runway

The Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) has requested bids for construction of a $33.1 million runway in the Metropolitan Airport in Romulus following congressional approval of a $15.5 million grant for its construction last week.

WCRC Chairman Michael Berry said construction of the runway, which will extend 10,000 feet to Eureka Road in Romulus, should begin in July.

Construction will be financed with the grant and a $16 million bond issue to be

Units ordered

'Beep' to accompany employees on the job

Members of the city's building and ordinance enforcement department soon will have a "beep" to keep them company while they are away from the Romulus City Hall.

Some $14,000 has been set aside in the city's new fiscal budget for the purchase of six portable signal units, which beep, notifying an individual to call his or her respective department, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said.

He added that the city opted for the pocket-size "beepers" instead of portable radios as a matter of economics.

The radios would have involved maintenance costs, pricing them beyond the initial cost of the beepers.

The small units are manufactured by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and will be as effective as the radios as a notification system, Troutt said.

"At present, there is no way to contact personnel when they leave city hall," the mayor added.

The beepers will be purchased, following implementation of the 1974-75 budget on July 1, he added.

financed by airlines using the airport.

Berry said the new runway will allow more traffic to use the airport and will decrease waiting time before take-offs and landings.

Traffic at the airport will increase from 320,000 to 500,000 per year with completion of the project, said James M. Davey, manager of the airport.

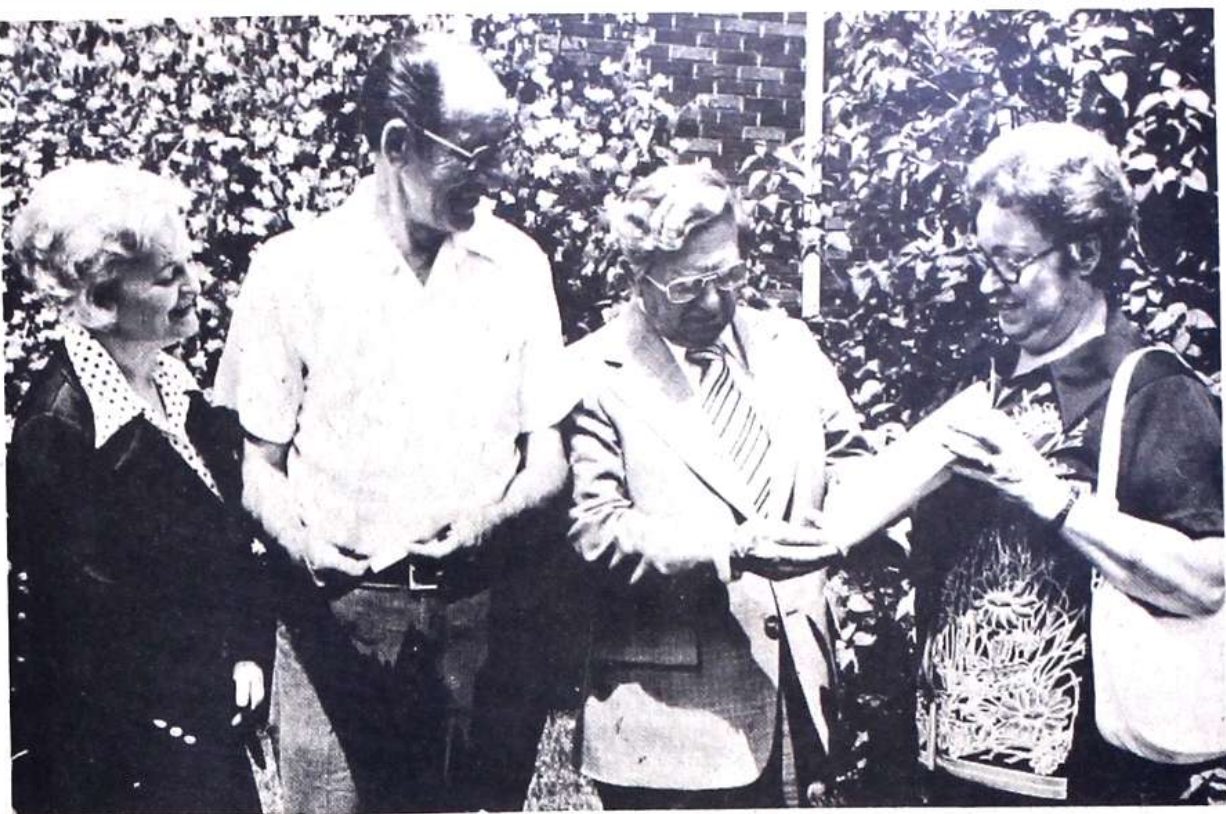

Plans for construction of the runway became the center of controversy in Romulus more than a year ago when city officials learned that it's construction would require the looping of Eureka Road on the southern boundary of the airport.

In March officials and community residents charged that they had been treated unfairly by the WCRC when the runway was proposed and the land needed for construction was purchased last year.

Just last week, several city officials returned from a meeting with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to discuss the problem in Washington, D.C.

FAA officials told the city delegation to put their complaints into writing so the federal agency could consider action.

Although the FAA endorses construction of the new runway, agency officials said they could pressure the WCRC to give up jurisdiction over the airport by placing a freeze on other federal grants, if the alleged unfair practices continue.

City employees save tax money; Get pat on back from county

It was the first in-house audit tackled by the Romulus Treasury Department, and its employees not only saved the city $4,000, but earned a pat on the back from the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation.

According to Romulus City Treasurer John Lewkowicz, the department received the green light from the county on its audit last week, paving the way for further in-house handling of such procedures.

"The department felt it had sufficient personnel to do the job and at the same time save the city money," he said.

THE $4,000 saved is the fee usually paid to an auditing firm to balance the city tax rolls against those figures received from the county.

Employees tackled the job as part of their normal work day on a time available basis, completing the audit in about two weeks.

The audit, required by state law, covered both the city and county tax records, involving some $10 million in revenues.

Lewkowicz said the county's approval of the in-house audit also may lead to the department tackling the preparation of its own tax bills next year.

Troutt said the amendment would raise the limit to $1,500 and do away with the bidding, if the item is manufactured by one firm.

ANOTHER budgetary change included in the amendment would allow the city to determine the pay of executive secretaries in a different manner.

According to the charter, the secretaries' pay is determined by the average

THE CITY presently pays the county about $46,000 annually for the service, which includes some assessing work.

If the city prepares the bills, taxpayer records would be placed on computer cards, facilitating the listing of tax payments and the storage of records.

The new system also would eliminate the use of large computer read-out sheets and volumes containing yearly tax records.

Lewkowicz said the addition of the tax billing to the city's computer services may mean the hiring of a full-time computer operator, but may prove economical in cutting city expenditures.

Charter changes may alter terms

The amendment would limit the determining cities to those which employ full-time mayors.

Troutt said the present charter formula has limited the city in finding "top-notch people" for the position.

IF APPROVED by the voters, the change would raise the secretaries' salary to about $10,800.

"I think that since the help actually works for the taxpayer, the secretaries should be paid what the taxpayers think they should be paid."

'Confidence vote' given candidates

An incumbent and a newcomer will serve on the Huron School District Board of Education for another four years.

Voters in the district gave what amounted to a "vote of confidence" to newcomer James Bennett, 45, and incumbent James Pershing who both ran unopposed for the two open 4-year terms on the board of education.

Both men will take their posts July 17.

Bennett of 18617 Hannan Rd., New Boston replaces Lincoln Ward on the board.

Ward, currently the board of education secretary, did not seek reelection, since he was moving out of the Huron School District.

Bennett received 99 votes while Pershing tallied 97 votes.

People care about tightening 'things up'

Bob Berg, Lansing Bureau

One of the old refrains legislators constantly throw out when asked about campaign reform or governmental reform is "I ain't getting any letters on it from back home."

The feeling among most of them is that the only people who really are concerned about putting some controls on campaign spending and lobbying are a few members of Common Cause and some newsmen.

Since Common Cause isn't that big and since they don't trust reporters in the first place, it's easy to see why so little has been done.

BUT NOW COMES some overwhelming evidence from the State of California that people do care about tightening things up.

Voters in that state have approved overwhelmingly — 70 per cent to 30 per cent — to adopt a campaign reform, lobbyist control measure tougher than Michigan legislators ever imagined in their worst dreams.

The proposal was drawn up by the California branch of Common Cause and put on the ballot through a petition drive run by

'Perhaps it will cause some of our legislators to consider their position.'

Common Cause. It was opposed by just about every special interest group in the state from big labor to big business.

But the people said they liked it and it is now the law.

IT REQUIRES the reporting of campaign contributions, provides ceilings for spending by candidates and requires complete reporting by lobbyists of who they work for, what they are paid and how much they spend. Lobbyists are barred from contributing or helping arrange contributions of more than $10 a month to any candidate or officeholder.

Common Cause took a chance when it decided to go the petition route. Rejection of the proposal would have dealt a severe blow to campaign reform efforts. But the success can only help.

"It is a tremendous lift for us," said Leslie

Lokken of Okemos, the chief lobbyist for Common Cause. "Perhaps it will cause some of our legislators to reconsider their position."

THE CALIFORNIA reforms didn't receive the attention they deserved during the campaign, so here is a breakdown of exactly what they do:

- all campaign contributions of $50 or more must be reported with the name, address, occupation and employer of the contributor;
- candidates for governor can spend up to seven cents for each person of voting age in a primary campaign and nine cents in a general election. Other statewide candidates are limited to three cents per person of voting age. Independent committees may spend up to $10,000. For incumbents seeking re-election, the amounts are cut by 10 per cent;

—lobbyists must register with the secretary of state detailing who they work for, who they want to influence, how much they spend and who they spend it on. All lobbyists expenditures must be made through one bank account. The lobbyist must tell how much he is paid by each person he or she lobbies for. Lobbyists are prohibited from making or arranging political contributions or gifts of more than $10 in any month to a public official or candidate.

—state and local officials must file annual statements of their financial interests, including sources of income and property. Every candidate must file a similar statement when he files for office.

—once an incumbent files as a candidate for any post, he cannot send out a legislative newsletter or other mass mailing at state expense. This is one of the worst areas of abuse in Michigan, with mailings growing geometrically as elections near.

ONE OF THE OLD cries by public officials against such strict laws is that they will drive good people from office. But the state of Washington adopted an even tougher law by referendum in 1972 and at this time only 150 of some 5,000 officeholders affected have quit and that includes deaths, leaving to take different jobs, etc.

One of the points that has come through clear as a bell in the Michigan Legislature is that lawmakers have been more interested in writing a measure it's easy for them to live with than one that is thorough in making public transaction of public business.

And despite hopes the California vote might spur them to action, the clock has gone so far it is really too late for a meaningful bill this year.

That could mean a petition drive to give them a stiffer shot of reform than they ever thought of, just as happened in California.

It wouldn't happen to a more deserving bunch.

As we see it

Residents have right to police protection

Residents in any community of Western Wayne County have a right to demand better police protection of their property and lives. And community officials have a duty to answer that demand by providing better protection.

In an effort to try and solve a problem of vandalism in Romulus, at the request of Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt, the Romulus City Council has appropriated $112,000 in funds for the implementation of three special Wayne County Sheriff's Department deputies.

Two plain-clothes detectives and one juvenile officer will be added to the city's policing capabilities to try and provide adequate law enforcement. The officer's duties will include juvenile investigation and follow-ups on crime in the city.

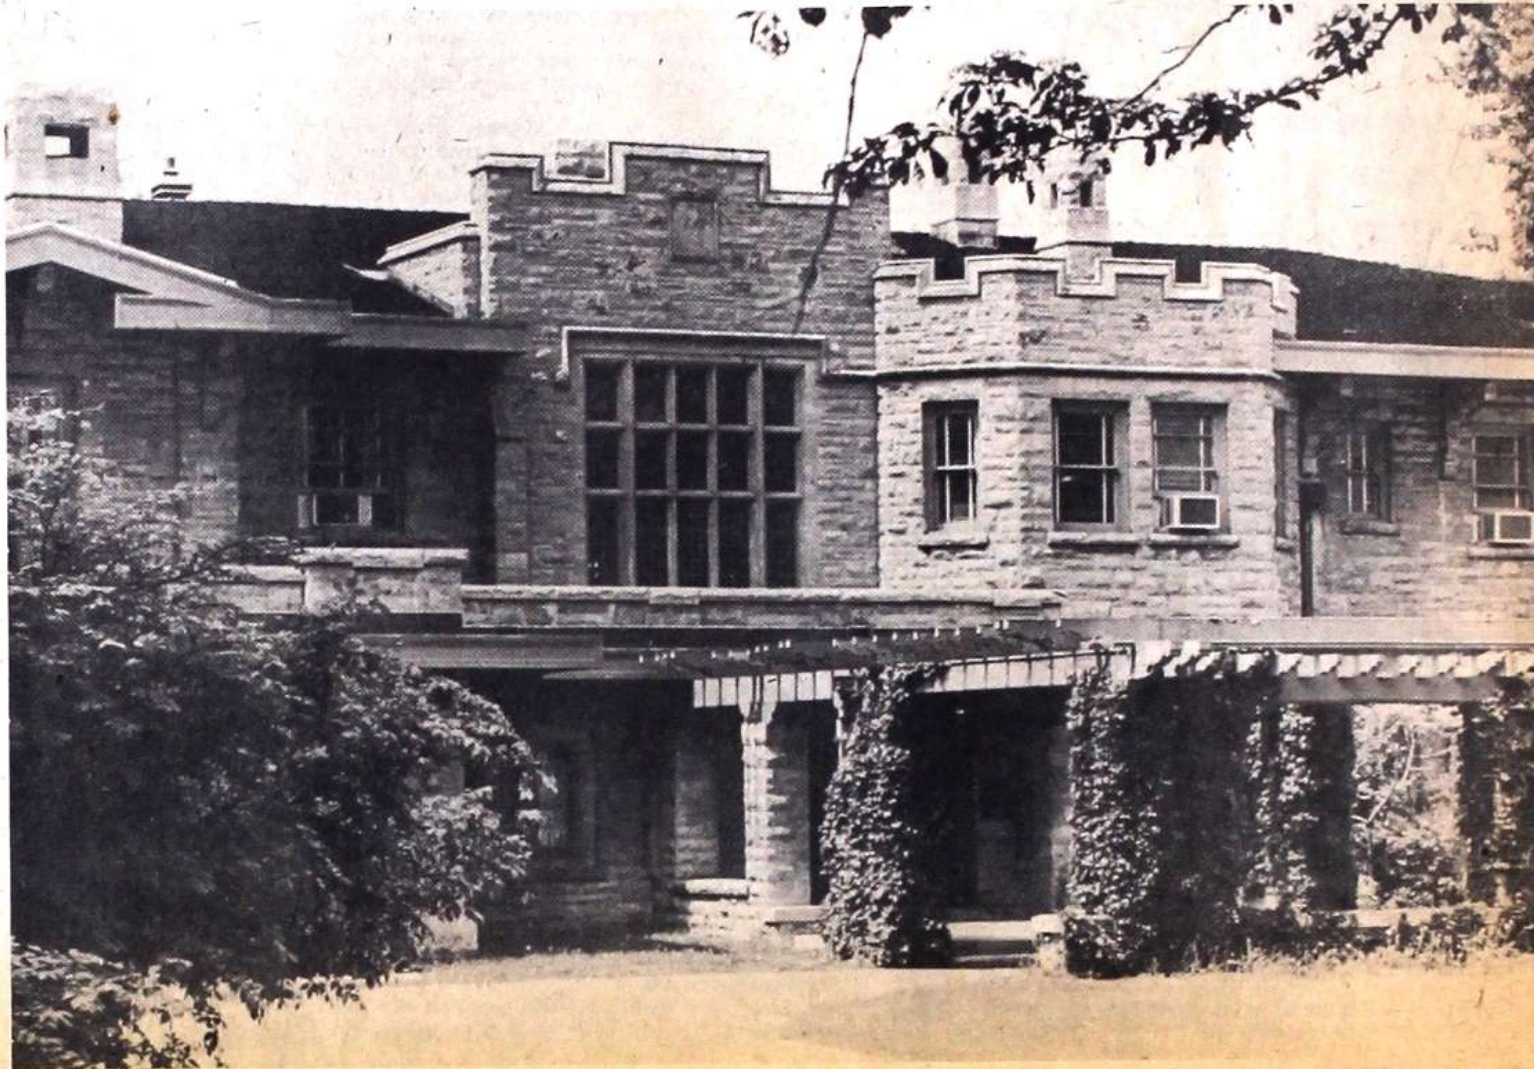

The City of Belleville also is answering the call for more protection with the hiring of two new officers. The officers are in training and will augment the city's force as soon as their coursework in a police academy is done.

The council also has increased police patrols to eliminate a speeding-driver problem. Several complaints prompted the council to direct police to increase surveillance in those areas cited by residents.

At present, 45 per cent of the city's general operating expenses are spent for the police department, according to one councilman. He said the council could not afford to hire additional police officers.

In the townships, officials are fighting a Wayne County Board of Commissioners plan to remove the Wayne County Road Patrol surveillance. Under law, the county is responsible for providing police protection to townships, they say.

CASTLE-LIKE RESIDENCE — Privacy was what the late automotive magnate Henry Ford craved in his personal life and privacy was what he found at Fair Lane. The castle-like residence is being open to the public for tours. Volunteer guides will conduct the hour-long tours of the stately home.

Fair Lane, castle-like home, open for touring

Privacy was what the late automotive magnate Henry Ford craved in his personal life, and privacy was what he found at Fair Lane, his castle-like residence.

Times have changed, however, since Ford's day, and once-isolated Fair Lane now sits on a portion of the busy University of Michigan-Dearborn campus. The structure, which still is surrounded by about 70 acres of unspoiled, natural area, has served as a conference and cultural center since its presentation to the University of Michigan by the Ford Motor Co. in 1957.

While public tours of the mansion were offered sporadically by the university until 1966, there has been no public tour program since that time. As of June 23, all that will change. On that date, UM-Dearborn inaugurates a limited tour program, with the mansion open to the public every Sunday from noon to 6 p.m.

VOLUNTEER GUIDES from campus and civic organizations will conduct the hour-long tours of the stately home.

Completed in 1915, Fair Lane is situated in the central area of Dearborn, overlooking the Rouge River. Only Indiana limestone and concrete were used in building the house, which was designed in the "Scottish baronial" style by Pittsburgh architect W.H. Van Tine.

The mansion, named for a Ford ancestral home in northern Ireland, cost close to $2 million and contained 56 rooms, 15 baths and a bowling alley.

Together, the mansion and surrounding gardens comprised 1,260 acres of the more than 2,000 acre estate. Also constructed on the premises were a summer house, maple-sugar shack, skating house, peacock house, chicken house, Santa Claus workshop (where local children were entertained at Christmas), pony barn, for the establishment of its Dearborn campus.

While the University eventually hopes to restore a limited number of rooms with decor and furnishings in keeping with the home's historical value, for the present visual and audio aids will be used to describe the way things were when the Fords lived at Fair Lane.

powerhouse and servants' cottages (the Fords employed five full-time servants and a part-time laundress).

THE REST of the estate was woodland, which was prized by the Fords as a natural bird and game sanctuary.

Known to have little regard for the social whirl of such areas as Grosse Pointe, Ford undoubtedly found at Fair Lane much of the seclusion he revered. While the Ford's son Edsel only lived at the mansion for about 10 months (since he was married shortly after its completion), the Fords resided alone at Fair Lane for the rest of their lives.

Mr. Ford died in 1947 and Mrs. Ford in 1950. As part of Mrs. Ford's will, the furniture in the mansion was sold anonymously in the East. The home and grounds came under the supervision of the Ford Motor Co. Archives and served as archives headquarters for several years. In 1957, the Ford Motor Co. presented 212 acres of the estate, including the house, to the University of Michigan

THE TOUR BEGINS at the bottom: the basement sun porch of the mansion, where guests may register and buy souvenirs. Highlight of the lower level is the Rustic Room (now known as the Malbin Room), which served as the Fords' "field" or recreation room.

The oak floor, pegged with black walnut was built to accommodate the kind of early American dancing Henry Ford loved. Here, the Fords practiced in solitude the steps they performed at parties at the Engineering Lab, and later, Lovett Hall.

Crafted of field stone and fire brick taken from the historic Ten Eyck Tavern, the massive fireplace features, carved on the cypress wood mantle, these words from Thoreau: "Chop your own wood and it will warm you twice."

From the lower level, tour guides lead visitors through the basement foyer, up the stairs and into the main entrance hall. Hand-carved oak paneling on the walls and the main staircase, which circles to the second floor, is done in the Elizabethan style and was dusted daily in the Fords' time by a maid and butler.

A STAINED glass window imported from England and utilizing a motif frequently used on sundials is located just above the landing. Next stop is the library, paneled in hazel brown oak and covered with an ornamental plaster ceiling from an old English manor house. More than 4,000 rare and valuable books were once housed here.

From the library, visitors proceed to the living-gathering room, with French walnut paneling and antique brass light fixtures. Both the living room and music room paneling were painted the present light color under orders from Mrs. Ford, who wanted a change from the proliferation of dark wood in the two rooms.

In the Music Room (now called the Sisson Room), visitors may view a short film on the mansion. They'll also have a chance to study the massive (12-foot high and 10-foot wide) Italian walnut and marble fireplace, which features the first lines of Robert Herrick's "Gather ye rosebuds" inscribed on its four walnut pillars.

The Baker Room, sun porch, dining room and kitchen area round out the remainder of the house tour. The dining room is paneled with roseleaf mahogany woodwork and the six wall sconces, chandelier, and door and cabinet hardware are all of sterling silver. The sun porch is reputed to have been the Ford's favorite room.

Voice of the people

Don't people care about kids; Few attend drug abuse meet

To The Editor: I went to a public meeting on May 20 at Belleville High School sponsored by DARTE (Drug Abuse Reduction Through Education). The purpose of this public meeting was to inform parents of the drug problems in our town and offer some corrective help.

I wonder where all the people were that night, the people who constantly remark about the "drug sales in the park" or "the drug stories" their kids bring home from school.

There were no more than 30 interested people at the meeting, and the majority were school officials. Aren't be taken to the hospital parents in the Van Buren because of drug overdoses? Public School District concerned that 17 children had to

Lauds story on President

To The Editor: It is so easy to tell the public what it wants to hear and to join the crowd in throwing stones. The lynch mob tactics are well known throughout history.

Men that step up to do and say what is right are few.

You are one and to be commended. Watergate and what happens is bad. I hope it does not happen again. What is happening is a political football with the Democrats and some of the news media against President Richard Nixon and not the Republicans in particular.

Reading program to begin

A summer reading program for elementary school-aged children will begin July 1 and continue through Aug. 9, in the Huron School District.

District officials said final details of the program are being worked out, but parents are urged to contact their elementary school principal for enrollment information.

In an effort to broaden summer reading opportunities the Hannan Road and Riverside school libraries will be open to the public several hours each week during the summer officials said. Final details on the program will be announced.

Security president gains post

The president of Security Bank and Trust Co., Lowell L. Peacock, recently has been appointed by the Small Business Administration to serve a 2-year term on the Detroit District Advisory Council.

Local advisory councils assist the Small Business Administration in helping more than eight million small businesses in the country.

Peacock also is serving as president of the Michigan Bankers Association, and is a director of the National Retirement Insurance Co. of Detroit. He is a member of the Economic Club of Detroit and is active in the Boy Scouts of America.

Scholarship award given to resident

A Romulus woman has received a scholarship from the Alvin M. Bentley Foundation, a state-wide program which distributes $50,000 in scholarships annually.

Receiving the $750 award is RobAnn E. Mateja. Miss Mateja plans to attend Central Michigan University.

Police present 128 violations

Belleville's city coffers are $1,570 richer after the Belleville Police Department issued 128 violation tickets during May. The $1,570 came from fines collected from the tickets.

The police department also processed 285 complaints in May and issued 147 new dog licenses, according to the May activities report.

The city's driver's license bureau issued 2,027 driver licenses during the month, according to the report.

Commission to meet early

The Van Buren Township Water and Sewer Commission will begin at 7:30 p.m. in July and August.

The commission usually meets at 8 p.m. on the first Monday of the month at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., Van Buren Township.

Octet graduates; tykes now ready for kindergarten

The Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery closed its 1973-74 school year with two events.

May 31 was commencement day for the following children who will enter kindergarten in the fall: Lisa Arquette, Marian Berlin, Kimberly Buzan, Krista Falky, Kenny Garner, Clem Girard, Angie Kraus and Angie Mangiapane. They proudly marched up to the teacher in their white caps complete with tassels as they were awarded their certificate of graduation, class of '74.

The commencement services were followed by a picnic for the entire school, children and parents alike. Bob Hamilton did the honors with the hot dog roasting as hospitality chairman. Roselle Miklosi, who planned the refreshments, assisted in serving. The Activities Committee, Sylvia Caldwell and Jan Boike, ended a well-planned program by distributing a "surprise bag" to each child containing a selection of prizes.

PRESIDENT Tanya Paluch presented a thank-you-farewell gift to the teacher, Doris Dougherty, from the students and parents. Since Mrs. Dougherty is a nature lover the gift was, appropriately, a rare flowering plant.

June 1 marked the first annual open house. Board members (present and previous) served as hostesses guiding families through the nursery and providing prospective students with the opportunity to participate in school activities, ranging from playing on large equipment to quietly creating a craft project.

Many youngsters engaged in their first easel painting experience and had many art souvenirs to take home to decorate their walls until classes begin in the fall.

Refreshments were served and membership applications received. There are still some openings for fall enrollment. Anyone interested in discussing member ship may contact Sharon Hamilton on 654-2456.

Anyone wishing to inquire about a part-time teaching position for the fall 1974 through spring 1975 school year may call Tanya Paluch from 5-8 p.m. at 753-4386.

Rainbow Girls attend 46th Grand Assembly

Attending the 46th annual Grand Assembly of Order of Rainbow for Girls held at Grand Rapids, May 30 to June 2 were 14 members of Belleville Assembly No. 49. They were accompanied by advisory board members, Mother Advisor, Rose Ann Well, advisory to the treasurer, Donna Collins; chairman of the board, Robert Well and Robert Collins.

Girls attending were Worthy Advisor, Pam Bankert; Charity, Cheryl McKelvey;

Hope, Debbie Flanagan; Faith, Kathy Griess; Recorder, Carolyn Nicholson; Treasurer, Denise Well; Chaplain, Pam Clark; Drill Leader, Donna Martin; Religion, Roberta Well; Nature, Patricia Flanagan; Immortality, Sylvia Carey; Service, Vickie Williams; musician, Susan Carey and choir director, Deana Halcomb.

Others in attendance on either Friday or Saturday were members of Belleville Chapter, No. 73, Order Eastern Star, (OES) Edna Florian, Vincent Goodnuff, Walter James, Anita Nicholson, Wanda Adams, Elizabeth James and Ruth McAtee.

ON THURSDAY evening Roberta Well was appointed Grand Page to Renee Tivy, Grand Religion.

Two Belleville girls, who came home with Grand Titles, were Denise Well, Grand Treasurer, and Carolyn Nicholson, Grand Representative to the state of Maine from Michigan.

Receiving the Grand Cross of Color on Saturday afternoon were Debbie and Patricia Flanagan and Kathy Griess and Easter Star members, Edna Florian, Donna Collins and Walter James.

The Belleville girls were one of the top three in the door decorating contest, having lost the top prize to East Lansing.

Bake sale, bazaar, movie on agenda for Sr. Citizens.

Romulus Senior Citizens have been busy making plans for the summer. Mary Butz, activity coordinator, reports. At present they are preparing for a Father's Day bake sale to be held this week-end at Metro Mall Shopping Center in Wayne. The 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. event will feature lots of homemade cakes, pies, cookies and bread, she added.

Another project, scheduled for Aug. 1-3, is a raffle and bazaar at Metro Mall. The group's display will include arts and crafts, needlework, quilting, afghans, baby items, toys and ceramics. The group is currently selling tickets for 50 cents each or three for $1.

Today the club is to have lunch and see the movie at Quo Vadis Theater in Westland.

The last Saturday in June the group is slated to spend the day at the Tiger ballgame after being treated to lunch by the Romulus Recreation Dept.

Garden Club officers installed

The Huron Valley Garden Club held its June meeting at the home of Mrs. William Hennells on E. Huron River Dr., Belleville. The group sat down to a pot-luck luncheon on the hostess' lakeside porch and later installed officers for the coming club year.

Mrs. Melvin Budd, installation officer, presented the new president, Mrs. Hennells, and her co-officers with pink rose buds. Others to hold office for 1974-75 are Mrs. Joseph Moon, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Books, recording secretary; Mrs. Fred Flavell, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Fitch, treasurer.

The club's next meeting will be held in September.

Cadette Scouts receive U.S. flag

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 340 sponsored by the North Junior High School in Belleville recently was presented with an American flag and stand by The John M. Wahl Chapter 87 of the Women's Relief Corps (WRC).

The presentation was made at Lower Huron Metropolitan Park where the troop was holding a field day and was entertaining prospective Girl Scout members.

The flag was presented by Celia Renkie and was dedicated by Mrs. Peter Knysz of the WRC.

The troop's leader, Joyce Phillips, along with Girl Scout Jill Bower accepted the flag. Hazel Miller, Nina Bodenmiller, Chris Knysz and Mrs. Pat Houghton acted as color bearers during the ceremonies.

Approximately 30 girls and mothers attended the flag presentation.

July altar dates set by couples

Debozy - Heath

Sandra Lynn Debozy of New Boston and Daniel Terrance Heath of Ann Arbor are engaged and making plans for a July 6 wedding. Their betrothal and nuptial date are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Debozy of 25688 Waltz Rd., New Boston.

The bride-elect, who works as a licensed practical nurse at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne, has reserved St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston for the wedding.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Heath of 41021 Michigan Ave., Wayne, is employed at Omnitech Inc. of Ann Arbor.

Howard - Stewart

Theresa Ann Howard, who will graduate from Romulus High School this month, is engaged to David E. Stewart, who is serving with the U.S. Army at Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

The young couple's betrothal is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howard of 8966 Grover, Romulus, parents of the bride-elect.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart of 9417 Essex, Romulus.

A July 6 wedding is being planned.

Romulus man's recipe makes him a 'Patio King' finalist

A Romulus man and sheet metal worker at the Ford Motor Co., Gerry Kain of 15629 Sandburg, who entered an outdoor recipe for "Barbecue Roll-up", is among the 10 finalists named in Detroit Edison's search for a "King of the Patio".

A former second prize winner and three other participants in previous cook-offs are also finalists.

The competition conducted annually, was open to adult male residents in the company's Southeastern Michigan service area.

Contestants submitted outdoor cooking recipes last month. The 10 men, chosen on the basis of their written entries, were to participate in a simulated outdoor cook-off at Detroit Edison's downtown Detroit headquarters today.

GRAND PRIZE will be a complete patio ensemble, including an M-W counter top jet fan oven, an insulated 30-cup coffee maker and electric grill and patio cart.

Second prize will be a "Thrifty Combo," consisting of a rotisserie-broiler and a super pot. A "Patio Duo," an electric skillet with broiler lid and a blender-ice crusher, will be given to the man who comes in third. The seven runners-up also will receive electric appliances.

Judges who will make the final decision on the cooking prowess of the finalists are Len Barnes of Motor News; Mark Belaire, Detroit Free Press columnist; Lee Murray of Murray Bernardi Associates; Mort Neff of Michigan Outdoors; George Pierrot of George Pierrot Productions, Inc.; Cyrilla Riley, Detroit News Household Editor; Roosevelt Roscoe, Detroit Press Club chef; and Food Writer Kay Savage.

The cook-off will be attended by Mrs. Kain and other wives and friends of the finalists. After the presentation of prizes by Detroit Edison officials, a celebration in honor of the "King" will be held at the Detroit Hilton Hotel where professionals will prepare the menu.

Jim Buck earns MD degree at Johns Hopkins

Dr. James R. Buck, a 1964 graduate of Belleville High School, was among the 103 students to receive doctor of medicine degrees recently at the Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Medicine in Baltimore, Md.

Dr. Buck received a bachelor of science degree at Michigan State University in 1967 and a doctor of veterinary medicine degree there in 1968.

Among those attending the graduation were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buck, his sister, Susan, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Smith, all of Belleville.

Honor society accepts two

Two Belleville High School graduates were among the 412 students initiated into the Michigan State University chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, national honor society.

Jeffrey Miller, a recent graduate of MSU, and his sister, Pamela Miller, who just completed her junior year at the school, are the new members. They are the son and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G.G. Miller of 12560 Stanley Dr., Belleville.

Father's Day questions for every one in the family...

Is Dad "around the house" as often as he can be, or is he "around town" when he could or should be home? How often and for what length of time does he talk to and/or play with his children? Do the children joyously anticipate such meetings or do they feel and or say "Dad spoils everything"? Does he arbitrarily feel the fact of fatherhood automatically entitles him to love, respect and obedience of his children? Does he make a conscious effort to help instill attitudes, qualities and traits he desires in his children - or does he usually leave that task to mother? To what extent does he show qualities of integrity, morality, humor, compassion, patience and understanding? Is he more generous with material things than the giving of himself with love and time? Does he avoid tensions and hostilities in the home? Is he proud of his children? Are they proud of him?

In our opinion, most Dads (by a large majority) measure up pretty well on this sort of score card. We salute and honor them on Father's Day...

Automotive news roundup

Plant in Wayne hikes production of small cars

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise-Roman
Auto Writer

$60 million, but put Ford in the lead for small car production.

Cars shrink

Ford Motor Co. small car production was up 18 per cent last month when compared to May 1973. The increase is due in part to the Wayne Automotive Assembly Plant which manufactures Mavericks, a company spokesman said.

Donald Bastian, vice-president of the automaker's manufacturing group, said small car plants built 132,523 units last month compared to 112,057 in May 1973.

Ford opened the Wayne Assembly Plant three months ago after an unprecedented 56-day conversion of the facility from a large-car manufacturing operation to a small-car operation. The conversion cost

General Motors Corp. (GM) product buyers may not recognize the largest automobile manufacturer's offerings in the next few years.

The corporation's big gas guzzling models are going on a reducing plan, aimed at shedding more than 1,000 pounds from the company's largest offerings in an effort to increase gas mileage.

Pete Estes, executive vice-president of the operations last week said that GM hopes to offer trimmed-down versions of all its cars by 1978.

The trimming down will be accomplished by substituting aluminum and plastic components for those made with heavier materials.

Auto defect

A GM spokesman last week also said a federal report citing a defect in a carburetor which causes engine fires has not been a serious problem in the nine years the Chevrolets and Buicks, which were supposed to have the defect, were on the road.

The spokesman said the defect did cause 973 reported fires during the nine years, but that the fires resulted in only 11 minor injuries.

In mid-May the automaker had to counter a report on steering effects in 1969 Camaros and 1970 Chevrolets and last week had to answer a federal report on jamming accelerators in 441,000 1965 through 1968 Buicks and 1970 Cadillacs.

AMC in court

The American Motors Corp. (AMC) whose world headquarters are in Detroit, found itself in the Wisconsin Supreme Court last week attempting to prove that it was a Michigan firm.

The fourth-largest automaker attempted to collect a $3.1 million tax refund from Wisconsin by stating that although some of its cars are manufactured in the state, all are sold in Michigan, and are therefore subject to Michigan tax laws.

If the automaker's claim were upheld, only 56 per cent of its Wisconsin business activity would be subject to taxes. Presently Wisconsin taxes 86 per cent of the business American Motors does in that state.

Production up

The auto industry showed an increase in production last week over the previous week.

Production climbed 22 per cent, but still is 22 per cent behind production for the same week last year, according to Automotive News, the industry's trade publication.

The publication reported that the automakers manufactured 173,416 units last week compared to 142,664 the previous week, when workers were scheduled only four days because of the Memorial Day holiday.

However, the automakers manufactured 221,734 units the same week last year.

To date this year, the auto industry assembled 3.37 million cars, down 27 per cent from last year's 4.77 million record pace.

More small cars

Despite the continued slump in production, the auto industry continues to increase its small car production over last year. Small car production has increased 15 per cent from last year.

Some 39 per cent of all cars built this year are small offerings, compared to the 24 per cent mark for small cars last year.

Ford rebuttal

Ford Motor Co. issued a rebuttal to a National Highway Traffic and Safety Administration (NHTSA) proposal to require that passive passenger restraint systems are bags in all 1977 model vehicles.

Ford director of the automotive safety office, John G. Eckhold, told NHTSA that the requirement will simply pass on added costs to the consumers while not offering increased protection in a crash.

The May monthly Pack outing was to a local McDonalds for a tour and refreshments.

Township board mulls new plan consultants

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees is studying a recommendation from the township planning commission on a new planning consultant firm for the community.

The planning commission has recommended that the Board of Trustees appoint Vilican-Lemans and Associates of Southfield as the new township planning consultants.

Vilican-Lemans was one of several planning consultant firms interviewed by the planning commission, at a recent meeting.

If hired by the township trustees, Vilican-Lemans will replace the Detroit firm of Parkins, Rogers & Associates, whose contract with the township expired recently.

In other action at a recent session, the commission approved the site plan for construction of a new location for the Corder Leasing Co. of 41275 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

The commission also set tonight as the date for a public hearing on the rezoning of land located at Belleville Road north of the I-94 Freeway for construction of a Big Boy Restaurant.

TO PLEASE A MAN — Here is a room with one basic desire — to please a man. From the plushy body-shag carpeting to the adaptable furniture the mood is masculine, rugged... comfortable. But it's also a room any Western Wayne County female, who likes the modern touch, would love.

Follow these steps:

Carpets last longer with care

The better care Western Wayne County residents take of the carpets and rugs in their home, the longer they will last and retain their good looks — and thus ultimately save you money.

Three basic rules for home cleaning will keep carpeting in optimum condition:

1. Vacuum traffic areas daily. This removes tracked-in soil and restores the pile. If dirt is left on the carpet, it will go below the surface where it is more difficult to remove and can wear carpet fibers by abrasion.

2. VACUUM all carpeting thoroughly once a week. Get under furniture and into corners. "Thoroughly" means that the vacuum cleaner should be pushed and pulled in slow even strokes at least five times over the same area. Vacuuming does not hurt rugs; it actually prolongs their life.

3. Remove any spots and stains as quickly as possible. Don't wait until they have time to dry or set.

Carpet manufacturers recommend a vacuum cleaner with a motor-driven brush and beater bar. The beating action helps to loosen imbedded dirt and dust and fluffs up the pile.

Even with maximum care, the carpet will eventually tend to look dull. This doesn't mean the colors have faded — it's probably caused by the gradual build-up of soil which is difficult to remove by ordinary vacuuming. When this becomes noticeable, your carpet needs shampooing.

ALTHOUGH YOU can do-it-yourself with one of the carpet cleaning preparations in your home, the best results are obtained from a professional cleaner.

Rugs can be sent to the plant or cleaned like wall-to-wall carpeting right on your floor in a few hours.

Fortunately, some of the newer carpeting is treated with a special Scotchgard finish to resist stains.

To remove dry soiling materials like clay and mud, first crumble and remove the excess, then apply the suds of a mild detergent mixed with water (one teaspoon to one quart of water) and a teaspoon of white vinegar. Blot with a tissue, dry thoroughly and gently brush the pile.

TO REMOVE oily stains, scrape or blot the excess from the rug surface. Then apply a dry cleaning fluid with a clean cloth. Blot the carpet and, if necessary, apply the suds of a mild detergent mixed with water and vinegar. Dry the carpet, and if any stain remains, repeat the dry cleaner and detergent steps, let it dry and brush the pile.

For stains from animals and foodstuffs — such as coffee, tea milk, alcoholic beverages or catsup — scrape and blot the excess surface soil, apply the above detergent and vinegar solution, rinse and dry the carpet. Then apply a dry cleaning solvent with a clean cloth and let the carpet dry. If necessary, repeat the entire process, then brush pile.

Male does 'own thing'; Decorating with carpet

Home and Garden

In summer a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love, and perhaps cars, boats, trips, clothes and other things that money can buy.

Age may not influence a man's fancy, but shortages certainly will in 1974. The expensive sports car may not have as much appeal this year as fresh new surroundings at home.

Long gone the way of the "dodo" is the notion that a guy can't decorate his own pad without help. Doing your "own thing" should mean doing it better... and that means doing it tastefully.

WITH ENOUGH carpet intelligence, a sensible Western Wayne County fellow can select the right carpet for his apartment or home, and have fun doing it. By starting with the carpet, a good color scheme can be executed according to his personal tastes and budget limitations.

Apart from a focal point for color, carpeting has so many things going for it. Its soft pile relieves foot fatigue after a hard day at work. It absorbs sound: it adds to the prestigious look of luxury in a room. And, it saves time and energy. Improved fibers, major changes in construction and surface texture, and new color treatments all have contributed to the easy-care nature of today's carpet.

In this "Master Living Room" (see photo), Armstrong's OMEN shag carpet is used as a velvety background for the modular, sensually-upholstered pieces. Despite the fact that the room is planned for maximum space utilization, a "busy" look has been avoided in the carpet choice.

Flexible storage pieces are the "fresh connection" to the carpeting. The wood is a handsome pin-knoty pecan with a light, natural appeal. Wall units have heights of 49 inches (higher than standard bases of 28-30 inches).

THIS MEANS that when you add top components available in 30-inch heights, you get a wall system that meets the standard height of most doors. With that, a room has immediate built-in interest.

Notice the desk in the background with the roll-out file drawer; when pulled out, it can serve as the perfect-height typewriter table or is adaptable as an end of night table.

Not a "family of squares," the word for this whole collection is versatility. Even the coffee table on casters has a recessed well for planters or ice-bucket use.

An entertainment center, a study, a living room — it's home!

For basic information on how carpets are made, which carpet goes where, and how much carpeting to buy, send for "Carpeting Your Indoor World," a 16-page color booklet from the Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, Pa. 17604.

Tweed carpet's in, so is brighter look

Today, the "in" look in decorating is bold, bright and basic. Brass and bronze are very big.

They're fine for holding feathery fern fronds, or for molding into little models of birds and beasts.

As for fabric, nothing is quite so crisp and classic as top quality tweed. It's handsome, hearty and easy to care for.

And tweed isn't turning up on furniture only. It's also found underfoot in carpets that could have come from an English country estate.

One such carpet can come in a stunning sheared pattern or a super smart shag that's definitely deep, but slightly shorter and denser than other long looped floor coverings.

These top-drawer floors are made of one of the most rugged of rug fibers, 100 per cent continuous filament nylon, heat set to insure that the terrific texture can't crush and won't walk out on you.

In addition, the yarn weight is almost three times greater than that of average nylon, and this gives it the luxurious, lustrous feeling of the curly wool of a Karakul lamb, but much sturdier.

The carpets all have a lovely lustrous sparkle, and come in captivating colors such as Nordic beige, a combination of brown, beige, gold and white; or blue royale, a unique blend of browns and blues.

Other hues include russet, spice, driftwood beige, red, September green, canyon sunset, twilight blue, Inca gold and Etruscan copper. These fine floor leaders are a part of the "Pepper Ridge" collection from Kentile.

If high style in short or long shag is a prominent part of your carpetbag, Western Wayne County residents will be proud to offer floor space to such boss tweeds.

SEMTA gains federal funds to purchase 182 new buses

The Department of Transportation (DOT) in Washington, D.C., awarded the largest single capital grant to the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA). The $7,981,040 million will be used to purchase 182 new buses and 40 bus shelters.

Thomas H. Lipscomb, semta general Manager said: "I am very pleased by this action. The receipt of these buses will make a significant improvement in the quality of bus travel throughout the region."

"Of the total number of buses, the majority will go to the DSR to replace buses that are now more than 15 years old.

"The remainder will be distributed in suburban areas as replacement buses. The 40 shelters will be distributed on a 50-50 basis between the suburbs and Detroit."

"I feel these new buses will encourage increased ridership by offering air-conditioning, more comfortable seats and other passenger comfort features."

SEMTA must receive three bids from bus manufacturers. In accordance with federal regulations, the purchase contract will be awarded to the lowest bidder. Delivery is expected in less than one year.

Romulus students need land donation to construct home

The students of the Romulus High School building trades class would like to construct a home. But they need land first.

Paul Lammers, instructor for the class, said the students have a preference for a paved street with utilities in and a location in the Romulus School District.

"However, the class will consider any offer within reason," Lammers added.

The construction project will be carried out under the supervision of qualified people and will meet all city building requirements, he said.

Once the land is donated to the building trades program, class will request permission for the project from the Romulus School District Board of Education.

Persons with suitable property may contact Lammers at Romulus High School by calling 941-2170 during school hours.

Wayne County's 4-H dog care and training clubs will present an open house for the public at 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Jaycees send tennis players to tournament

The Romulus Jaycees are sponsoring two Romulus Senior High School tennis players in a state tennis tournament to be held in Holt, Mich.

Romulus Jaycee Fred Coleman, a teacher at the school, recommended that the organization send Ray Eberberger, a senior, and Leanne Suley to the competition.

Teachers to brush up on skills with 'Open Classroom' course

"The Open Classroom," a course concerned with a rather new education concept in this country, is attracting many Western Wayne County teachers to Eastern Michigan University (EMU) in Ypsilanti.

"The goal is to help the teacher become more open and sensitive to others. This is done primarily through informal group interactions as part of the class," said Robert Fisher, EMU professor of education.

For the teacher, open classrooms are more demanding. They must do more research to provide the wide variety of materials for the various areas of interest. A growing number of educators and parents feel that the extra work is worthwhile.

"THE CHIEF advantage of the open classroom is the development of self-reliance, self-discipline and a higher sense of responsibility in the child," Fisher said. "This method lets him progress at his own rate and develop these traits."

Fisher spent two years on leave in England studying its educational system. From this study, he wrote a book, "Learning How to Learn," which is used in the course.

EMU also offers a 5-week "Open Education Workshop" at the Berkshire College of Education in Reading, England. The workshop provides an opportunity to explore practices in English primary schools.

The students spend two weeks working on teacher teams. The remainder of the workshop is spent at Berkshire.

For further information write to Erma Muckenhirn of the Office of International Studies at Eastern.

Huron offers summer rec program

Special ed, regular students mix

A unique and challenging summer recreation program has been promised to special education and regular curriculum students from the Huron School District. The program will include Huron, Flat Rock, Grosse Ile, Woodhaven and Gibraltar students in a combined recreation plan.

Huron School District Administrative Assistant Philip Dalley said the purpose of bringing special education and regular curriculum students together in a single program is to help the students "understand each other better."

"The schools will be bringing them together in a recreational setting with varied and interesting programs, and hope they will come to understand each other better and discover they have a lot in common," he said.

THE OTHER four school districts belong to a special education cooperative with Huron, and have combined to hire one teacher for the summer program, Dalley added.

He expects about half of the 60 enrollees to be special education students.

"The schools are trying to tailor some activities that will be genuinely challenging to the special education kids," he said.

The program now in its fourth year, will use Huron Junior High School as its focal point. The school's industrial shop, gym and cafeteria will be used for various projects. Sixth, seventh and eighth grade regular curriculum students are invited to enroll now for the summer program.

"Program plans call for hiking, canoeing, camping, swimming and arts and crafts, among other activities," said Dalley, one of the program's directors. He added that he expects the 60 participants from the five districts to begin the 6-week program July 1.

THERE WILL be no cost to students and bus transportation will be provided along with lunch and free art supplies. The program will run five days a week, from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Huron's share of the program's cost is minimal — "about $2,000" — based on last year's figures, Dalley said. "The state will be paying about $12,000, since it passed the mandatory special education pact last year," he added. "That mandates districts do more for special education."

Further information on enrollment and program details can be obtained from Dalley by calling 782-2441.

Romulus resident to serve on panel

A Romulus resident will serve on the Golf Day Committee of the annual Charles G. Younglove Benefit Golf Tournament to raise funds for the Michigan Foundation of Michigan.

He is Michael Gersky Sr. of 37250 Herman St., Romulus.

During the past four years, the tournament raised as much as $30,000 each year for the foundation.

Funds are used to purchase life-sustaining kidney machines for the foundation's loan closet.

Tickets for the tournament, scheduled for June 22 and 23 at Canard Valley Golf and Country Club in Windsor, Ont., are $15. Dinner tickets alone are $6.

The members of Cub Scout Pack 793, sponsored by St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville, have been recognized for their achievements.

Scouts receiving awards at a recent meeting include Joe Nigro, bobcat badge; Eddie Novak, 1-year pin; Sean Brehmer, bear badge; Joe Roulo, bear badge; Tom Linderman, two silver arrows under bear badge; Ken Duda, silver arrow; Larry Fleeman, silver arrow; Chris Swinson.

It'll help nurses, patients

Hospital to use pre-packaged medication

By SUE McDONALD
Enterprise-Roman
Staff Writer

Dispensing medicine can be as simple as opening a bottle or as complicated as checking pills 35 times.

But for nurses at the four Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) facilities, medications soon will be sporting the look of pre-package unit dosage.

According to Dr. Neil Caldwell, head of the pharmacy department of PCHA's Annapolis Hospital, unit dosage will help the nursing staff get "the right medication to the right patient at the right time."

USING THE hospital's pharmacy as the monitoring agent, nurses no longer will have to prepare medicine trays, which required more than 50 per cent of the working day, eliminating 60 per cent of their related duties.

Caldwell said the pharmacy will assume complete control of medication preparation for the hospital, improving patient care and safety.

Under unit dosage, medications are received from pharmaceutical companies or prepared in the pharmacy in set units.

By pre-packaging the medicine in heat-sealed containers, identification, as well as the strength of dosage, can be printed in the back.

A FAIRLY new program in the country, unit dosage was developed at the University of Kentucky 10 years ago. Officials at Annapolis Hospital have been working on the system for four years, establishing the procedures necessary to accommodate the changeover.

Under the traditional method of dispensing medicine at the hospital, nurses prepared cups for the patients, containing loose pills, liquids and syringes.

Caldwell said jostling or a sudden bump may disrupt the tray, leaving the nurse with a varied collection of unidentified pills and spilled medicine.

He added that under the traditional system, as many as 35 steps are required before the patient actually receives the medication.

"IT'S A PROBLEM of having to help the nurse," he said. "There will be 14 steps or checks under unit dosage, one-third of those now required. Each time the pharmacy eliminates a step, it eliminates the possibility of error."

Caldwell said the decrease in errors in the dispensing of medicine will be dramatic under unit dosage.

Although Annapolis Hospital will transfer to unit dosage in the fall, the plan is being used on a trial basis in the pediatrics ward. Liquid medications are given to youngsters on a pre-measured basis through oral syringes.

Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti changed over to unit dosage last year and the program almost is fully operational, Caldwell said.

BY THE TIME the unit dosage is in full operation at Annapolis Hospital, the pharmacy department will be preparing all medications and intravenous solutions. Each floor of the hospital will have a medicine cart, which will contain individual patient and narcotics drawers, making it a self-contained medicine chest.

The drawers are hooked to a cassette unit which can be removed when empty and replaced with a properly prepared unit.

"Reliability will go up with the pre-packaging of medicine," Caldwell said. "It's a great step forward. I do think it will be more economical and help nurses keep on medicine schedules in their departments."

"I DON'T THINK unit dosage will cost more than the initial expenses and even if it does, it's for patient care. The nurses are awaiting eagerly for the change. They realize the pressure is mounting on the floors."

3 Romulus, Belleville pianists play in annual music festival

Three area pianists, Carla Hay and Bridget Forintos of Romulus and Debbie Kostelic of Belleville, participated in the Michigan Annual Music Festival Sunday, in the Meadowbrook Pavilion on the grounds of Oakland University in Rochester.

Carla, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Hay of 14170 Huron River Dr. South, played with Group III, which rendered "Danza

"DeJalisco" by Copland and "Diana - Grande Valse de Concert" by Holst, arr. F. Hoffman. This piano group, comprised of students 15-through 17-years of age and adults, played under Dr. Raynold Allvin.

Allvin also directed Piano Group II in which Bridget, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Forintos of 36180 Pennsylvania Rd. and Debbie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

John Kostelic of 11524 Fisher Dr., participated. This group played three selections: "Stamp On It" by Noona; "Master and Scholar" by Haydn, and "Neopolitan Chanson" by Forbes.

The three pianists are students of Pearl Morris of Romulus and Pearl Varner of Belleville.

This is the 13th year that the Michigan Annual Music Festival has been held, under sponsorship of the Festival Teachers Association.

It was created for the purpose of giving outstanding piano students an opportunity to join their peers in a rewarding and exciting musical experience.

It is the world's largest group piano recital, Miss Morris said.

Dog tag deadline nearing

Van Buren Township dog owners who fail to purchase 1974 dog licenses by 5 p.m. Friday will be assessed an additional $7 for the license.

Van Buren Township Treasurer Ralph Hedman said the fee for the 1974 dog licenses, regardless of sex, is $3. After the deadline the fee will be $10.

In 1973 the township issued more than 2,300 dog licenses to residents.

Area resident gains degree

A Belleville woman was among the 640 students who received graduate and undergraduate degrees from Bob Jones University in South Carolina.

Receiving her degree was Marcella Overby.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overby of 44429 Tyler Rd.

Miss Overby received a bachelor of science degree for elementary education. During her stay at Bob Jones University, the Belleville student was a member of the Bronte Literary Society.

Bulldogs dominate selections

Robichaud sweeps 6 All-Area berths

Dearborn Heights Robichaud, recently crowned the state's best Class B track team and also the top team in the Suburban Athletic Conference this season, dominated the sixth annual Daily Eagle-Associated Newspapers' All-Area Track Meet held yesterday at Wayne Memorial High.

Coach Leit Jones' runners swept all three relays and also picked up the 100, 220-yard dashes and the low hurdles. It was the first time in the six-year history of the meet that one school had dominated six events.

ROBICHAUD'S Ron Woodson and Wes Jones grabbed off the 100 and 220 in 9.8 and 22.8, respectively, while Vic Huguley cashed in a 20.0 performance in the low hurdles for a gold medal.

Woodson, Calvin Green, Johnny Allen and Wes Jones also were the Bulldogs' winning combination for the 880-yard relay, while Larry Johnson, Green, Woodson and Johnny Wilson came back to win the mile relay.

The Dearborn Heights contingent of John Swasey, Jeffrey Woods, Oscar Dotson and Johnny Allen combined for a 44.5 to win the 440-yard relay.

The 1974 honor roll also consists of Wayne Clemons, John (shot put), Paul Halliwell, Garden City West, (long jump), Jeff Young, Churchill (high jump) and Mark Yassay, Garden City West (pole vault).

Wayne's Ray Nowak won the 880-yard run while Paul Collins, Garden City West, took the high hurdles and Terry Cook, Cherry Hill, was the best miler.

An ill Rick Ellison managed to hold on to win the 440-yard dash while Rich Nowak, Ray's brother, came up with a victory in the 2-mile.

CLEMONS won the shot put with a toss of 48 feet, 10 1/2 inches. However, the Glenn senior, has had a put of 55 feet, 5 inches this season. The 18-year-old, 200-pound well-built athlete placed second in the Northwest Suburban, third in the regional and 10th in the state.

"He's done an excellent job for us for the past three years," said Glenn Coach Barry Basel. "We've never had a shot putter like Wayne who also can run the 100 as he can."

Clemons has been clocked in 10.3 and also has carded a 22.6 for the 220-yard dash.

HALLIWELL also is ending an outstanding prep career at West High. The 17-year-old, 5-10, 145-pound senior turned in his best performance when he hit 21 feet, 5 inches yesterday to beat Wayne's Roy Mason (21'2") for the All-Area long jump honors.

Paul also was the Tri-River League champ in the event and placed third in the regionals.

YOUNG is no stranger to the All-Area team. His 6 feet, 3 inches performer earned him the title for the second straight year. The 6-6, 190-pound senior also won the gold medal in the Western Six Conference, a league that Coach Fred Price's Chargers have dominated for the past three years.

Yassay, a senior is making his debut on the mythical squad. He cleared 13 feet, 6 inches to turn back Belleville's Bruce Ford (13') and Glenn's Mike Karl (12'6").

A 6-3, 164-pound athlete, Mark's best performance this year - 14 feet, 1 inch - is a West High school record. He also won the Tri-River Conference title and placed second in the regional and 10th in the state. Robichaud's 880-yard relay team set a state record when it won the gold medal recently at East Lansing. Woodson, Green, Allen and Jones had no problem taking first place in the area. All, with the exception of Allen, who is a sophomore, are seniors. The Bulldogs are also the SAC's first champs for the event, running better than their state record time in winning the league title (1:28.4).

RAY NOWAK also brought the curtains down to an exceptional prep track and cross country career, earning All-Area recognition in both sports. The 18-year-old Wayne senior was clocked in a 1:59.1 in winning the half-mile yesterday, beating Plymouth Canton's Mike Potter (2:00.6) across the finish line.

Ray was the first Great Lakes League champ in the half-miles and also has been clocked in 1:58.4 for the event. He ran the two-mile event at the regionals and placed third.

"Ray has been a tremendous performer for us these few years," said Bill Hawley, Wayne's coach, "we could always depend on him. He won the league titles for us in both the half and quarter."

COLLINS and Huguley split the hurdles as state Class B champ, Inkster's Edwin Poindexter was scratched from the field because of a leg injury.

Collins had only a tenth-seconds to spare (15.2) in beating the Robichaud hurdler. A basketball star, Paul has enlisted in the Air Force. He takes with him a long list of scholastic and athletic accomplishments.

Collins' best time in the highs is 14.9. He also placed second in the Tri-River. The 18-year-old, 6-2, 145-pound senior trailed Huguley across the finish line in the lows by five-tenths of a second.

Huguley ran his best time of the season, a 20 seconds flat. Victor, who is a 16-year-old sophomore, is 5-10, 153-pounds and also ran second in the tough Suburban Athletic Conference.

COOK came up with the biggest surprise of the evening as he covered the mile in the winning time of 4:36.1 to become only the second athlete to win All-Area honors from Cherry Hill.

A native of Indiana, Terry's best time in the event is 4:32. The 6-foot-1, 140-pound senior also has earned a letter in cross country.

Woodson continued to prove he's one of the best sprinters in the state as he was clocked in 9.8 - a new meet record in winning the 100.

First in the SAC and regional, Ron placed third in the state. The 18-year-old, 5-7, 144-pound dashman has the makings of an outstanding college sprinter.

"You can't say enough about this fine man," said Coach Leit Jones. "He is a hard worker and very coachable."

6th meet has its surprises

By TOM MOORADIAN

Brian Schwall, the soft-spoken Plymouth Canton coach, who was fielding his first contingent in the All-Area Track & Field Meet, said it best:

"The meet was well run and I feel the kids enjoy competing in something like this."

Then, Mark Yassay, the 18-year-old senior pole vaulter from Garden City West, summed it up for the participants: "It was a fun meet which climaxed an exciting season. I really enjoyed competing."

DICK MILLER, the "ole" coach himself, who handled the officiating for the sixth annual meet, offered this:

"It's too bad that there weren't more fans and competitors but, it had something everyone could enjoy."

The meet was an exciting one. It provided the tension, the pressure, the ecstasy of winning and the agony of losing, as the saying goes - but, equally important, it showed the determination of our area's young athletes to prove "they are the best."

And it is this type of determination that has made this area into one of the best track and field communities in the state. How else can one explain why year after year schools like Livonia Churchill, Wayne Memorial, Garden City West and Robichaud put together championship teams in their respective leagues?

There were some disappointments, of course. Inkster's excellent junior hurdler, Edwin Poindexter, was scratched from the meet because of an ailing leg. The injury kept the two-time state Class B champ from defending his All-Area title.

And, Bob Mendoza, Livonia Churchill's fine hurdler, also couldn't make it this year.

There were others who missed the meet.

But, the cavalcade of track stars were there: The Woodsons, the Joneses, the Youngs and Nowaks that this meet seem to bring out, always provides both participant and spectator with a unique sense of pride.

And, I would like to express my personal thanks to Coach Hawley and his staff, for a job well done.

Six years...It seemed like only yesterday when we staged that first one.

And, while you watch such young athletes doing something constructive with their lives, you can't help but wonder why others turn to vandalism.

NO BEATING THEM — Robichaud High's 880 relay quartet of (left to right) Ron Woodson, Calvin Green, Johnny Allen and Wesley Jones was the team to beat Thursday night in The Daily Eagle All-Area Track & Field Meet — but nobody could. Robichaud's Leit Jones is Coach of the Year

The odds against a first-year high school coach gaining Coach of the Year accolades are tremendous, but they're nothing compared to his chances of winning a state championship.

Incredibly, Leit Jones of Dearborn Heights Robichaud had accomplished both feats, and even if his Bulldog track team hadn't won the state Class B title he would still have been an overwhelming choice for The Daily Eagle and Associated Newspapers' Track Coach of the Year.

Jones, 25, succeeded Bernie Ingle at the Bulldog helm this season and guided his squad to the first championship of the suburban Athletic Conference and the state 'B' title.

Jones' runners also dominated the 6th running of the All-Are Meet.

A former Robichaud star himself, Jones was a tackle on the football team and a shot putter in track before his graduation in 1966. He went on to Wayne State University where he captained the Tartar gridders and was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams. He had a try-out with the Rams, but did not play pro football.

"I have always felt that the key to coaching is to coach the way you would want someone to coach you, to be honest with yourself and the guy you're coaching.

"The kids we had on this year's team were just outstanding. They weren't quitters. After losing our first three dual meets they stayed in there to have a successful season.

"That's the caliber of a champ — he's no quitter," said Jones.

Last year Jones taught science at Joliet State Prison in Joliet, Ill., before accepting the Robichaud job.

At Robichaud, he teaches science along with his assistant football coaching and head track duties. The versatile Taylor resident and father of one was also an excellent musician in high school and studied one summer at Interlochen Music Camp.

excellent prep career by repeating as an All-Area quarter-miler. Eastern Michigan University is one school that is eager to get the 17-year-old, 5-9, 140-pound athlete's signature on a letter of intent.

Rick was clocked in 50.1 nipping Inkster's Mike Andrews for the honors. But he has run 49.4 for the event. He also is the Northwest Suburban Conference's quarter-mile champ as well as a member of the team that won the league title in the 880-relay.

Yesterday's meet brought an end of three years of varsity competition for Ellison.

RICH NOWAK is one of a long line of Nowaks who have swept long-distance track honors in the area and state. The 17-year-old junior beat teammate Ray McGee to the finish in the race for the two-mile gold medal, the winner crossing the line in 10:07.3. (His best time has been 10:04.)

JONES, who just can't seem to put it together in the 100, remains the best 220-yard man in the area. An 18-year-old senior who has lettered in football and basketball as well, Wesley won the 220 in a 22.8 effort, six-tenths of a second off his best time. He also is the regional and league champ in that event.

Robichaud's mile relay team or Larry Johnson.

Calvin Green, Woodson and Johnny Silson breezed to an easy victory. The foursome, which also has to its credits the SAC title and state championship, ran away from the challengers, winning in 3:25.5. Their best time is a 3:24.3.

John Glenn gave Robichaud's 440-yard team a battle but John Swasey, Jeffrey Woods, Oscar Dotson and Johnny Allen managed to hold off the Rockets to win the final gold with a 44.5. The Westlanders were close behind with a 44.8.

Vandals hit Wayne High's press box in recent weeks, shattering windows, tearing out the telephone and light fixtures and leaving "a mess," as one coach put it.

"We have had our share of problems in the past," the coach added, "but nothing like this. You got to wonder what the parents of these kids are doing?"

What parents?

Isn't it a fact that vandals don't have parents.

15 Romulus teams play for title

A record field of 15 teams began competition in the Romulus Women's Softball League last week.

And, with the exceptions of the Electric Warriors and Odd Squad victories, all the games were close.

The Denim Dolls eked out a 9-7 victory over the Bullshirts to start their bid for a title with a win while The Red Hots cooled the Seekers 15-9 and the Tarantulas stung the Swingers 12-11.

In a relatively easy victory, 2001 trimmed the Thumpers 25-7. Also, Electric Warriors knocked off Foul Balls 30-9 while the Odd Squad disposed of New Streakers 32-3.

Kid Power drew a first round bye and will see action this week.

Tragedy is awaiting many students as they travel

By TOM OCHILTREE
Washington Bureau Chief

Every large city airport is packed these days with eager American college students waiting to take off for foreign countries. Never before in history has the youth of any country been so mobile.

For most of these young men and women their experiences this summer will form a highlight of their lives, but tragedy awaits others who are reckless or innocent enough to come anywhere near drugs during their stay abroad.

Rotary to hold dinner in park

Romulus residents will have a chance to mingle with nature while enjoying dinner at the Romulus Rotary Club's chicken dinner at Kennedy Park in Romulus Saturday. For $2.50 per person, diners will have a chance to munch on barbecued chicken, potatoes, coleslaw and beer.

The dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. The park is located on Goddard Road near Five Points in Romulus.

Information books are set for print

The Community Development Committee of Van Buren Township has asked the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees to appropriate between $500 and $600 to print 15,000 brochures to promote the economic development of the township.

The committee recently approved the design of the 6-page fold-out brochure, and told the board of trustees the document is ready for the printer.

Containing information on residential, commercial and industrial development along with information on recreation, transportation, taxes and utilities, the brochure will be distributed to both residential and commercial developers.

Registrar gets help

A Belleville resident has been appointed a deputy voter registrar for the Belleville city clerk's office. She is Kaye H. Ivan.

Miss Ivan, of 286 E. Huron River Dr., was appointed to assist deputy voter registrar Lynda Brendike of 509 Liberty St., Belleville, and Belleville City Clerk Jean Baumdraher in registering voters for the August primary election.

The deadline for registering to vote for the primary is July 8. The City of Belleville has 1,500 residents listed on the city's voter registration lists.

Some will even be duped into dropping off or picking up packages along their route by new found "friends" without knowing what the packages contain. This can be very dangerous.

THOSE WHO wind up in European or Middle East jails will enter a harsh, even cruel, world very different from their sunny campuses.

All this was in the mind of Rep. Elford A. Cederberg (R-Mich.) when he issued a warning recently to traveling students from his home state and elsewhere in America to have absolutely nothing to do with drugs, drug users, pushers or any aspect of the so-called drug culture while abroad.

Cederberg learned from the State Department that approximately 1,000 Americans, most of them young, are in jails abroad at this moment on charges of use, possession, trafficking or smuggling drugs—from hashish to cocaine to heroin.

Because students have been told by others of their kind that it is relatively easy to buy "high grade grass" or the somewhat stronger hashish in Middle East bazaars and to pick up harder drugs in the back alleys of many European cities, they assume the penalty for getting caught will be relatively light. They could not be more wrong.

"GENERALLY speaking foreign countries do not accept bail in cases involving drug trafficking," Cederberg said.

Pre-trial detention, which may involve solitary confinement for months in primitive prison conditions, is the rule rather than the exception.

The legal systems of some foreign countries do not provide for jury trials in drug cases. Penalties are stiff sometimes amounting to as much as six years at hard labor and a heavy fine in many countries.

Almost without exception, prosecution of drug offenders is being intensified abroad. Once an American citizen gets caught up in a drug rap there is little Washington can do to help him.

THE LIMITATIONS on the authority of U.S. Consular officials should be fully understood by the American traveler before departure," Cederberg said. "An American abroad is virtually 'on his own' if he becomes involved, however innocently, in illegal drug trafficking."

Cederberg said he had no sympathy for the pushers and the other so-called "pros" in the drug racket but he wants college students and others to be warned of the punishment that awaits them if they violate the drug laws of foreign countries.

To this end he is co-sponsoring legislation in the House which would direct the Justice Department to prepare a pamphlet explaining the drug abuse laws of certain foreign countries and to make certain the pamphlets are available to all U.S. citizens traveling abroad.

FEW MOMENTS in life offer the anticipation that comes to a young man or woman packing blue jeans and sweat shirts with the names of their colleges, checking maps and accommodation arrangements and even warming up on useful foreign phrases.

To keep happy and avoid tragedy Cederberg asked these young people to consider for a moment this revealing message written by a young American imprisoned abroad on a drug charge:

"I'm locked in a nightmare, the middle of hell. Each day goes by alone, drawing like a dying thing. It is so cold in the cells I can scarcely write. I've got to get out!"

WHEREAS: The City Council estimates the City cost of said street improvements to be One Million Five Hundred Fifteen Thousand ($1,515,000.00) Dollars; and

WHEREAS: The City is authorized to expend Motor Vehicle Highway Funds allocated to it under the provisions of Section 13 of Act 51, Public Acts of Michigan, 1951, as amended, for the purpose of paying cost of the aforesaid improvements; and

WHEREAS, the City Council deems it to be in the best interest of the City to finance such costs by borrowing the sum of One Million Five Hundred Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($1,515,000.00) and issuing bonds of the City therefor pursuant to the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended; and

WHEREAS, the revenues received by the City of Romulus from the motor vehicle highway fund in the one-year period preceding the contemplated borrowing are more than sufficient to comply with all the requirements specified in Section 4 of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. The estimated cost of the improvements as set forth in the preamble hereto is hereby approved and adopted.

2. The period of usefulness of said improvements set forth in the preamble hereto is estimated to be not less than twenty (20) years.

3. The City Council of the City of Romulus determines to borrow the sum of One Million Five Hundred Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($1,515,000.00) and issue bonds of the City pursuant to the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended, for the purpose of providing funds to pay costs of the street improvements listed in the preamble hereto.

4. Said bonds shall be designated 1974 MOTOR VEHICLE HIGHWAY FUND BONDS and shall consist of three hundred three (303) bonds of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, dated as of August 1, 1974, and payable serially as follows:

$80,000.00 June 1, 1975;

$70,000.00 June 1, 1976;

$75,000.00 June 1st of each of the years 1977 and 1978;

$80,000.00 June 1, 1979;

$85,000.00 June 1, 1980;

$90,000.00 June 1, 1981;

$95,000.00 June 1, 1982;

$105,000.00 June 1, 1983;

$110,000.00 June 1, 1984;

$115,000.00 June 1, 1985;

$125,000.00 June 1, 1986;

$130,000.00 June 1, 1987;

$140,000.00 June 1st of each of the years 1988 and 1989.

Said bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding eight per cent (8 percent) thereon, payable on June 1, 1975, and semi-annually thereafter on December 1st and June 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable at a bank or trust company qualified to act as such and located in the State of Michigan, to be designated by the purchaser of the bonds and approved by the City, and a co-paying agent similarly qualified, designated and approved but located either within or without the State of Michigan may also be named.

Bonds maturing in the years 1975 to 1984, inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds maturing in the years 1985 to 1989, inclusive, shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after June 1, 1984 at 102 percent of par if redeemed prior to May 1, 1986, and at 101 percent of par if redeemed on or after June 1, 1986, but prior to maturity.

Thirty (30) days notice of the call of any bonds for redemption shall be given by publication in a paper circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

5. For the purpose of providing moneys to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds herein authorized and in accordance with the provisions of Act 185, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended, there is hereby made an irrevocable appropriation of the amount necessary to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds herein authorized from the moneys to be derived from state-collected taxes returned to the City of Romulus for highway purposes pursuant to law, and the Treasurer of the City of Romulus is hereby directed during each year that any of the principal of and interest on the indebtedness herein authorized remains outstanding and unpaid to set aside in a separate depository account, to be designated 1974 MOTOR VEHICLE HIGHWAY FUND BOND RETIREMENT FUND, sufficient moneys from revenues received during each such year from the motor vehicle highway funds pursuant to law, to pay the principal of and interest on the installment of such indebtedness next maturing.

6. Pursuant to the authorization of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended, and as additional security for the prompt payment of the principal and interest on the bonds herein authorized, there is hereby irrevocably pledged the full faith and credit of the City of Romulus.

7. Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk and the corporate seal of the City shall be affixed thereto, and the interest coupons annexed to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signatures of the Mayor and City Clerk. Said bonds, when executed, shall be delivered to the Treasurer and be delivered by him to the purchaser thereof on payment of the purchase price, in accordance with the bid therefor when accepted.

8. Said bonds and the attached coupons shall be in substantially the form required by State and Local Statutes.

7 from Belleville graduate Sunday

Seven Belleville students were among the nearly 5,000 who graduated Sunday from Michigan State University. Graduating were Darlene L. Clark, Vicki L. Palmer, Bonnie L. Rye, Cathy Stabnau, Douglas L. Eye, Linda L.

Johnson and Delores L. Perdue. Miss Clark of 203 W. Columbia Ave. is a home economics honor graduate. Miss Palmer of 128 Clarence St. is a clothing and textiles graduate.

Miss Rye of 50333 Willis Rd. is an honors graduate in social science. Miss Stabnau of 12054 Belleville Rd. is an elementary education graduate. Eye of 48705 Bemis Rd. is an honors graduate in dairy science. Miss Johnson of 3275 Sheldon is an interior design graduate. Miss Perdue of 42015 Expressway received a master's degree in institutional development and technology.

Insurer increases benefits at no cost

Sentry Insurance has changed its auto policy.

Belleville Sentry Agent Stephen J. Kuchta said the Sentry auto policy will provide additional protection in most cases, without an increase in premium.

Increased benefits include a bail bond limit of $300, hearing and trial wage loss reimbursement up to $35 per day, auto theft expenses up to $15 per day and broader transportation expense coverage. The towing and labor limit has been increased to $75 per occurrence, Kuchta added. A new coverage, emergency additional living expense, automatically will be added to those vehicles with comprehensive and collision protection, Kuchta said. Sentry will reimburse up to $75 per day for reasonable living expenses caused by disablement of an insured automobile.

Limits of some optional coverage are being increased and a number of previously prohibited vehicles now will be insurable, he added.

For emergency use

Van Buren board rents oxygen units

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees has approved the leasing of new emergency respiration equipment for the township.

Seven units of the equipment will be leased at a cost of $11 per unit per month.

Representatives of Flynn Oxygen Ventilator Co., which leases the equipment, said the units can be used to assist victims of accidents who have difficulty breathing or whose lungs have stopped functioning.

The equipment is superior to other types now in use by the township because a device which prevents accidental overfilling of the victim's lungs, is found only on the new equipment.

The township board ordered two units for the fire department, three units for the police department, one unit

The trustees also approved the purchase of a mannequin, nicknamed "Resusc-Annie," for the Civil Defense Department. George Heifner, civil defense director requested the mannequin. He said it simulates an accident victim for training in first aid treatment sessions.

The life-size doll will cost the township $135.

In other business at the recent meeting the township board approved a bid of $656 submitted by the Redford Glass Co. for the installation of the two doors with quick-release levers for emergency exits.

Student tops dean's list in Kalamazoo

A Belleville student was among the 184 recently named to the dean's list at Kalamazoo College.

She is Lisa Archer, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Archer of 45250 Harmony Lane.

Last year 3,100 people stayed at the beach. Permanently.

Of course they all drowned.

But then, another 55,600
Americans were killed in motor-vehicle accidents.

And 17,600 died from falling. Fire claimed another 6,300 lives.

The figures go on and on.
But maybe you get the point.

Don't let us hear about you by accident.

National Safety Council

If you don't like thinking about safety, think where you'd be without it.

The National Safety Council is a federally-chartered nonprofit, nongovernmental, public service organization, a staff of over 400 persons works with a membership of more than 15,000 safety-minded organizations, and their millions of employees and members, and a volunteer force of thousands. Safety is the only business of the Council, which develops and implements accident prevention programs reaching every segment of American life.
